It is submitted that the amendment which includes the subject matter of claim 5 into claim 1 does not materially reduce or simplify the issues since claim 5 already contains all of the subject matter which becomes claim 1 in the amendment. In addition, by moving up the subject matter from claim 5 into claim 1, claims 2-4 are altered by the introduction of new subject matter (claim 5) which they did not previously contain. For these claims new search and consideration would be required. For these reasons the amendment will not be entered.

With respect to applicant's argument that Paradinas does not disclose "a program file, an electronic signature of the program file, a configuration file, and an electronic signature of the configuration file", it is respectfully submitted that since these elements are not made functional in the claim that this nonfunctional descriptive material does not functionally relate to the steps in the claim which would have been performed the same regardless of this nonfunctional material.
